Laurier Commemoration to Be Held in Gymnasium Tonight; Air Minister Power to Speak

James' Message Read at Service

Text of Address Sent by Principal To Saint Lin

This is the complete text of a message sent by Principal F. Cyril James to Saint Lin, Quebec, birthplace of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, where it is to be read at the special Memorial Service to be held there today commemorating the Centenary of Sir Wilfrid's birth:

"Destiny gives to few men the opportunity to embody within themselves all that is best in the age in which they live. To fewer still does it give the added opportunity to lead mankind towards the goal of their ideals. Sir Wilfrid Laurier was of the elect.

"Proud of his French-Canadian birth, he wished to supplement the knowledge acquired at the schools of Saint-Lin and the College of the Assumption by learning from his fellow English-Canadians all that they could teach him at New Glasgow and McGill University. Friend and confidant of many statesmen, he added to the experience he acquired from them by continuous reading of books and articles describing the ways of peoples and nations.

"Insatiable curiosity was inherent in his nature, where it was wedded to an abiding sympathy. He was interested in men because he loved them. Like Solomon of old, he desired an understanding heart, and was rewarded with power and dominion.

Aided Canada's Development

"The prosperity which Canada enjoyed during the years when Laurier was Prime Minister may be attributed to factors over which he had no control. The western world was surging forward under the impetus of the industrial revolution and growing gold reserves. It was Laurier's task to develop the soul of Canada, to foster the spiritual development of her people in order that they might use their riches wisely. In that endeavor he succeeded magnificently.

"Envisaging clearly the ideal of the Statute of Westminster, he realized that the future of the British Commonwealth of Nations depended upon the willing partnership of self-governing Dominions. It was no selfish nationalism, because Laurier fought for the rights of South Africa as earnestly as he fought for those of Canada. It was no narrow patriotism, since he insisted that Canada should assume her full responsibilities, military and civil, in the affairs of the Empire.

"No man could have expressed better the ideals for which Canada and her allies are fighting today. A united national effort in which each individual voluntarily submerges his own interests because he knows that the democracy which inspires the nation will restore his liberties when victory has been attained. Unflinching courage to speak the truth, in season and out of season, and unremitting devotion to the public service of Canada—these are the qualities of a man who will be long remembered. It were well for the future of this Dominion that the tradition of Sir Wilfrid Laurier should remain always in our thoughts."

McGill Graduate To Be Honoured

University of Montreal Students To Be Present

This evening at 8.30 a ceremony will take place in the Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gymnasium, marking the hundredth anniversary of the birth of one of McGill's most famous graduates, Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Representatives from the universities, members of the legal profession, representatives of the armed forces, the Dominion and provincial governments, the municipalities, and all ranks of civilian life will be present.

The principal speaker will be the Honorable C. G. Power, Minister of National Defence for Air, and the theme of the gathering will be Canada's unity in the face of world danger. The Air Minister will deal with the rise of Canada from a comparatively small country, as it was when Sir Wilfrid first entered Parliament in 1874, to the mighty nation whose gallant sons have distinguished themselves on so many

Power Visits University, Inspects New R.C.A.F. Unit

The oHnourable C. G. Power, Minister of National Defence for Air, arrives at the University tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

At 4.15, he will survey the Physics Building where the Radio Mechanics are receiving their training. He will then inspect the entire corps on the campus.

At 4.40, he will go to the Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gymnasium-Armoury accompanied by Dr. James who will present the senior officers of the C.O.T.C. to him.

Following this he will proceed to the parade ground where he will inspect the Air Force Wing of the C.O.T.C. This latter unit is scheduled to act as his Gaurd-of-Honour for the evening when he will deliver an address in the Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gymnasium.

Martin Speaks To Philosophs

Recent Decline Of Religion Due to Science

Religion has declined in recent years because people have been swept off their feet by the great success of science, which has led to the adoption of a materialist philosophy, Dr. C. P. Martin declared in his lecture before the Philosophical Society last night.

But science, the speaker said, is not qualified to judge of the existence of God, because such a judgment is outside the field of science. Though science has not demonstrated and cannot demonstrate anything against religion, Dr. Martin asserted, nevertheless it has placed human beings in a frame of mind in which they think that everything is amendable to scientific proof or disproof. This has led to a decline in religious belief, he declared.

Science, according to Dr. Martin, deals with material facts alone. A scientific fact he defined as one that is "demonstrable by physical evidence." This method Dr. Martin averred is the correct approach to existing material or physical facts. But science, the speaker said, is as incompetent to pronounce upon the existence of a God or ultimate mind as a blind man is to judge colour.

Though some scientists, Dr. Martin said, think that study of the intricacies of the brain can lead to a knowledge of mind, science can never know mind, being able to study only the behaviour of material particles.

Dr. Martin emphasized that he was not attacking science, but only showing that science was completely unable to form judgments outside its strictly limited field.

The pholosophy of materialism, the speaker said, is unable to account for mind, since mind possesses no "survival-value" and thus could not have arisen in the evolutionary process of blind variation and the survival of the fittest.

School of Commerce To Be Reorganized

Algy Noad Quits McGill To Serve in R.C.N.V.R.

Professor A. S. Noad, Associate in the Department of English at this University, left last night for Ottawa. There he will assume immediately the duties of a lieutenant in a special branch of the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve.

PROF. A. S. NOAD

Since Professor Noad holds a permanent appointment in his department, he is not lost to McGill; as the outcome of a meeting of the Board of Governors a leave of absence for the duration of his services has been granted him. It was then stated that Professor Noad would be "greatly missed at the University."

A native of Lachine, and a graduate of Montreal High School, Professor Noad studied at McGill, taking honours in Greek and English. He was an editor of the Daily for two years, and put out the Junior Year Book, or "Old McGill' 'as it is now known; he spent at least one summer vacation working on the staff of the Gazette. From the University he received the degrees of B.A. and M.A., thus closing a career of "marked popularity and activity" here.

After the war—he was refused for active service many times during it—Professor Noad spent two years in Cuba as tutor to the nephews of the then President, Mario G. Menocal. In 1921, and for three years thereafter, he held the post of assistant in the English Department. A Moyse Travelling Scholarship led him, in 1924, to La Sorbonne in Paris for a year's study. Having specialized in comparative literature, a course in which he has been giving at McGill, he returned to the University as assistant professor in English.

In 1927 he was assistant editor of the Columbia University Course in World Literature which is contained in Eighteen Volumes.

Returning to McGill in the following year, Professor Noad resumed his position in the Department of English, and held it till 1938, when he became associate professor.

Professor Noad is known to almost every student at McGill because of his part in the pandemic English 2. Cognisant of several

Long-Planned Changes Made Possible by Grant

More 'Guinea Pigs' Needed; Coeds Lead Registration

Up to last night, the Committee for Volunteers for War Research could only boast of some forty registered. Although this is not poor, the Committee stated, it is still a far cry from the objective of one hundred volunteers.

The Committee, doing a little research on its own, discovered that the coeds comprised as much as sixty percent of the total registration. This superiority of numbers of female "human guinea pigs" was attributed to the more trusting nature of the coeds.

In order for this service to function efficiently, a reserve of at least one hundred is required. If the number of available students does not come up to par by tomorrow night, registration tables, similar to that in the Arts Building, will be set up in the Physics and Chemistry Buildings during next week.

Mr. S. Bronfman Makes Donation Of $100,000

Mr. Samuel Bronfman, of Montreal, has donated $100,000 to the School of Commerce of McGill University to enable it to carry out its plans for reorganization. This sum will be divided into annual contributions of $20,000 which will extend over a period of five years. Steps are now being taken to carry the full program into effect during the 1942-1943 session.

As a result of this donation, the University will be able to create a small number of Research Fellowships which will be open to post-graduate students who wish to work for advanced degrees. Details regarding these Fellowships will be announced shortly, and the first appointments are expected to be made some time next spring.

To Create Advisory Council

An Advisory Council, composed of leading businessmen is another innovation which will be created by Mr. Bronfman's grant. Even though the administration and operation of the School will naturally remain in the hands of the University authorities, the Advisory Council will be in a position to advise the Director of the School, and to offer its opinion of all proposals for the commencement of new courses or the reorganization of old courses. It will serve to link the School with business enterprises and government so that the work which is carried on by the students will enable them, after graduation, to make a maximum contribution to the welfare of the whole community.

It has long been felt by those responsible for the School of Commerce that an effort should be made to train a selected group of men and women who will occupy prominent positions in the public service after the war. As a result, the Senate adopted a comprehensive reorganization scheme. After

Key Calls for Nominations

Second and Third Year Men Sought

Nominations are now being called for to the Students' Executive Council. One representative is to be elected from each of the Faculties of Arts and Science, Engineering, Medicine, Law, Dentistry, School of Commerce, Theology and the Royal Victoria College. Nominees should be in the Junior year of the Faculties they are to represent, their nominations being signed by at least ten undergraduates of the same Faculty.

Nominations are also desired to the Honorary Society, the Scarlet Key. Nominations for this Society are divided into two groups: "A" and "B." In group "A" there are to be four or more nominees in the Third year of each of the Faculties of Medicine, Arts and Science, and Engineering; at least three from the School of Commerce and one from each of Architecture and Dentistry; there will also be two or more in the second year of Law. In group "B" there must be three or more nominees from the Second year of each of the Faculties of Arts and Science, School of Commerce, Engineering, Medicine and Dentistry.

All nominees must be students in Good Standing, and the regulations for nomination are the same as for the Students' Council. Nominations to both these bodies must be given in to the Secretary of the Students' Society by 2.30 p.m. on Tuesday, November 25th. The elections will be held on December 9th, and the newly-elected officers are to take over on January 1st., 1942.

Literary Circle to Hear Hoare Speak on Drama

Mr. John Hoare is to be the guest speaker of the English Literary Society at their first meeting of this session in the Grill Room of the Union at 8 o'clock tonight. Mr. Hoare, as a playwright and director, is a member of the Community Players, and is interested in other amateur groups, including the Montreal Repertory Theatre.

Tonight, the address of Mr. Hoare will deal with the psychology of the stage and staging of drama. Dorothy Murray, chairman, will outline the policy of the club and at following meetings a number of prominent speakers of the University and other literary circles shall be invited to address this group.

540 Offer Their Blood In Donor Campaign

Committee Votes Against Red and White Revue

Meeting yesterday afternoon in the Grill Room of the Union, a Committee, formed to investigate the possibilities of reviving the Red and White Revue, came to the conclusion that a full-fledged Revue would involve too much valuable time, and might also interfere with the War Effort.

The Committee, which was under the chairmanship of Vic Goldbloom, reported that there has been no lack of talent or enthusiasm, and for this reason has decided that it may organize brief half-hour shows to entertain the troops. The Gymnkhana will be held as usual this spring, it was announced.

Pat Little, the producer of the last Red and White Revue, now in the R.C.A.F., attended the meeting. He declared that he hoped that the Revue could be produced this year, but that it was perhaps too big a job to attempt in war-time.

Film to Be Shown Of Blood Process In Moyse Hall at 11

Ninety-three volunteer blood donors were registered yesterday, in the third day of McGill's campaign. The drive is to enlist students to contribute blood for use in field hospitals overseas, and has brought the total to five hundred and forty, according to figures released by the Campaign Committee last night.

The Committee also reaffirmed the hours for the showing of an instrumental film on the subject of blood donation, in announcing that Mrs. R. Palmer Howard, the Secretary of the Montreal Clinic of the Voluntary Blood Service of the Red Cross and a member of the Office Administration Section of the Red Cross Corps, will be on hand at the showings to give a few introductory remarks.

In releasing the names of yesterday's volunteers, the Campaign Committee stated that the total now reached represents a fair proportion of the student body, and has exceeded original expectations; but, it was emphasized, this response, although by itself appearing excellent, suffers by comparison with those of other Canadian universities—for example, that of the University of British Columbia, where one thousand donors have been registered and 1500 is the objective. The booths provided for the purpose of registration in various sections of the McGill campus will be open from ten a.m. to three p.m. for the remainder of the week, and the Committee has expressed the hope that the students of this University will take as a challenge the record of U.B.C.

It cannot be too frequently emphasized, declared the Committee, that the physical effects resulting from the loss of under a pint of blood are negligible to healthy individuals, and that considering the life-saving potentialities of blood and blood products in war-time, there is no reason why every student in fair health should not volunteer.

The educational film, which shows the method by which the blood is removed from the donors and prepared for use in transfusion, will be given two showings; one, for the members of the English 2 class, at 10.40, and the other, for all others interested, at 11.00. The first showing, it is emphasized, will

Third Salvage Campaign To Cover N.D.G. Tomorrow

War Council Executive Meets in Union Today

A meeting of the executive of the War Council will be held in the McGill Union today at 5.15 p.m.

The question of the "International Student Service" will be one of the most important matters on the agenda. Through this, a certain number of German Internees will be given the opportunity of further education in Canadian Universities, and in reciprocation, an equal number of Canadians will have the same advantages in Germany.

The final arrangements and reports will be considered for the Volunteer Reserve Force, the Registration of the Blood Donors, and finally the Salvage Campaign. After a discussion of the entry of new clubs into the War Council, along with new plans and business, the meeting will adjourn.

More Cars And Workers Are Needed

The students of McGill are holding their third salvage drive of the year tomorrow evening. These drives are part of the war effort of the university in the collecting of aluminum and other useful salvage to help in the manufacture of weapons.

Notre Dame de Grace is the district to be covered by the students, the plans for the Drive having been officially approved by the War Council last Thursday.

The "Daily' 'is sending a special contingent of workers on the Salvage Drive .They are providing their own cars and special trucks have been assigned to them, preparatory to covering district three. Lists are posted in the "Daily" office for members of the staff to sign.

The canvassers and volunteers for the trucks are asked to meet in the Campus driveway between 6.00 and 6.15 p.m., and the Campaign is expected to get underway around 6.30. The portion of N.D.G. to be canvassed in this Drive includes the part within the boundaries of the C.P.R. Tracks and Somerled, Benny, and Girouard avenues.

The plans are all completed as regards the auto and truck marshals: the auto marshals are to look after the students, while the truck marshals will see to the loading of the salvage. After the campaign a group of students will unload the trucks.

A list of the names of the marshals will be found on page four. Tomorrow's "Daily" will contain all instructions for the students taking part in the drive. There is still room for people with cars and they will be very welcome, stated Tom Hardwicke, Chairman of the Drive.

The salvage campaign has been widely publicized, both by the Montreal Daily Star, which has written a preliminary article on it, and by Christopher Ellis, who has spoken about it on the radio. The people of N.D.G. are ready for the canvassers, as the news has been printed in the "Monitor."

Life of Sir Wilfrid Laurier Outstanding in Achievement

A celebration of the Centenary of the birth of Sir Wilfrid Laurier is being celebrated this evening by both McGill University and the University of Montreal. The following is a brief summary of the life of one of our University's most illustrious sons.

Henri Charles Wilfrid Laurier was born on November 20, 1841, at St. Lin, in L'Assomption County, Quebec. He was baptised two days later in the Parish Church.

His education started in St. Lin's public school, continued at a Scottish school in New Glascow, and at L'Assomption College. He then went to McGill University whence he graduated from the faculty of Law as Valedictorian of his class. In 1864, the same year that he graduated, he was called to the Bar of Lower Canada. Four years later he married Miss Zoe Fontaine in Montreal.

In 1872 Laurier was elected to the Quebec Assembly for Drummond-Arthabaska, and after two years was picked for the House of Commons, for the same district. In 1877 he was sworn in as Minister of Inland Revenue in the MacKenzie cabinet, and was defeated when he sought re-election in Drummond-Arthabaska. In that same year he was chosen for the House of Commons, for East Quebec, which position he held till the time of his death. In 1887 he was delegated leader of the Liberal party, and in 1896 was appointed Prime Minister of Canada, and he held this position until the sixth of October, 1911. He initiated the Grand Trunk Pacific and the National Transcontinental Railways in 1903 and seven years later he founded the Canadian Navy.

No Volunteers?

Apparently the various concerted drives, appeals, and exhortations that have made news on the campus for the last month have finally exhausted the patience of McGill students.

They have come through magnificently for Salvage Drives and Penny Miles, for Blood Banks and War Councils; now the reaction seems to be setting in.

The first time that the Voluntary Reserve forms appeared in the Daily, the amazing total of four slips was found in the boxes at the end of the day. On the second day there were about fifteen.

The War Council once had hopes of getting a thousand students to sign up. We don't think, in spite of this discouraging prospect, that the Council has given up the idea. We hope they're going to get their thousand volunteers.

We've already pointed out once, and will do so again now, that this form-filling doesn't let you in for anything. You may think it asks one or two impertinent questions, but the point is that it's a time saver.

If the Reserve had been in existence before, the Committee for Research would have been saved a great deal of labour in getting names for their work. If the Salvage Committee had had the facilities of the reserve, the members of that committee would have been saved several valuable hours' time in finding cars enough for the workers.

The Volunteer Reserve files will be used to find those willing to give some support to the War Council's activities, when they will be available for that assistance, and what kind of help they are especially qualified to give. That's all. It isn't another census.

When you fill in this form, you indicate to the War Council that you are willing to contribute your share of the effort being put forth on this campus. We hope you realize that the War Council thinks that share important enough to spend a great deal of time on, and that the Council has gone to some trouble to arrange this Reserve. The members of the Council know how much it will mean to them; we hope you are willing to help.

The form appears on the fourth page of the Daily again today, and it will keep appearing, either until the thousand volunteers have signed up, or until the War Council gives up the ghost on the matter.

And what will it mean if the Reserve idea isn't a success? That McGill students aren't particularly interested in the war effort—in fact that they're sick of the whole business, and that they'd much rather retire into their pre-war shells and leave the whole thing to a meaningless War Council and a few industrious people on the campus . . . that McGill students will have lost the leadership they have built up over all other Canadian universities in an effort which has everywhere been acclaimed as inspiring.

We have one more thing to suggest. If you haven't the energy to tear the form out of the Daily—don't bother. Just fill it in and throw the whole Daily in the box.

Music Reviews

Arrau and the Concerts Symphoniques

Tuesday brought us a Concert Symphonique under the orchestra's regular conductor Desire Defauw, with the Chilean pianist Claudio Arrau in a program of works by Liszt, Franck, Stravinsky, and Rimsky Korsakoff. Mr. Arrau, who appeared with the orchestra in one of last year's concerts, was heard on Tuesday evening, in Liszt's A major concerto, and the Franck Symphonic Variations for piano and orchestra.

The Liszt work does not quite produce the electrifying effect of the E flat concerto, but it does have its technical problems, and they were brilliantly solved by Mr. Arrau. We were hearing him, as we did not last year, in music for which he has a considerable flair, and to which he can bring the necessary fund of nervous energy. He produces a tone which was, to these ears, a trifle hard, but the playing is always faultlessly even. Franck's superb work had a dazzling, brisk performance, with the emphasis occasionally on sentimentality, but the ardor and drive behind such playing are quite irresistible, when an artist can support them with complete assimilation of his music. The orchestral collaboration was everything M. Defauw's mastery of Franck's idiom could make it, subtle, tender, lively, as the score requires. There was an ovation for the pianist.

In the orchestral portion of the evening, M. Defauw, who is a clever program builder, was aiming at the pure lines of influence that lead from Glinka, their source, through Rimsky-Korsakoff, to Igor Stravinsky. As such, it was an evening of brilliant orchestration (which the Russians have been better at than anyone else) beginning with Glinka's "Kamarinskaya." Rimsky was represented by his program-symphony "Antar," which does not offer many interesting ideas, but which intrigues with an endless stream of colours. The orchestral ensemble was quite remarkable, and it seems that M. Defauw's reputation as a disciplinarian is being felt in the astonishing precision, and the polish of the orchestra's current work.

The present-day confusion about Stravinsky has no parallel in music, and the Tschaikowsky lovers who cultivated him at the "Firebird" stage of his artistic career are no more puzzled about him than the "Sacre" fans, or the "Apollon Musagetes" enthusiasts, or the Symphonie de Psaumists are. No artist has been quicker to follow his artistic nose, wherever it was disposed to lead him. What is he now—Neoclassicist? Atonalist? Jazz composer? Nowadays, they say, he despises "L'Oiseau de Feu," but he is still embarrassingly revered for the tender, glittering, clangorous "Firebird," sophisticated "Petrouchka," and the "Sacre du Printemps," Hellzapoppin' of musical literature.

Playing Stravinsky calls for brilliant integration by the conductor, because the orchestral parts are so piecemeal when taken by themselves, and M. Defauw did a marvellous job of precise, careful direction. As for the orchestra, it covered itself with glory in music well-nigh unplayable in spots; and the solo wind instruments, the oboe in the Dance of the Princesses, and the bassoon in the Berceuse, were admirably handled.

The next concert is to be on December 2nd, when Emanuel Feuermann will appear as soloist.

It's All A Matter of Opinion

A few weeks back Rupert Caplan produced an experimental broadcast entitled "Who You Pushin' Brother?" Radio circles in Montreal and across Canada thought that it was one of the best original Canadian radio shows produced.

The radio columnist of "Saturday Night," Toronto weekly paper, described the broadcast as excellent. One of his readers, however, did not agree with him and this is what he wrote:

"Mostly I string along with you not bad," writes the listener, who, incidentally, lives in Edmonton, "but when you hand a bouquet to Caplan for that alleged drama "Who're you pushin'. . . ." If that's experimental radio, I'll take a slice of Ibsen."

"It was the most self-conscious, smart alec: just too cute for words, slice of tripe, I've heard."

The columnist goes on to say that this is the type of criticism Canadian radio needs. Well, as we said above, it's all a matter of opinion.

Program: Home Port

Producer: Rupert Caplan

Cast: Gerald Rowan, Eleanor Stuart, Betty Taylor, Alec Baird, Mac Shoub, Al Miller, George Alexander, Denis Murphy.

At the risk of drawing the ire of another listener like the one described above, we're going to classify this show in the terrific class. For that is what we thought it was. We have spoken to some other people who heard the show, and they don't seem to agree with us, but anyway we will stick to our opinion . . . and perhaps some reader (faint hope) will take the trouble to take us down.

Our reasons for this rave are: first, a brilliant production by Rupert Caplan, without whose experienced hand to guide it the show would have been an unintelligible jumble. As it was, everything came out of the loudspeaker in well defined sequence. The second reason for the success of the presentation was the top flight acting of the professional cast. It was supposed to represent a bunch of tough sailors setting out on a two-year voyage and they portrayed their roles with startling realism.

This week's show was miles above last week's production. There was no apparent rushing to finish on time, although the script was filled with music breaks, and the show finished with very little to spare. All in all if Caplan can produce shows of this calibre in succeeding weeks he will maintain a standard very hard to beat even by groups below the border.

As Caplan remarked, the story was somewhat similar to that of the ill-fated Albatross in Coleridge's "The Ancient Mariner." It told of the launching of a clipper ship, the Hampshire Maid, and the experiences of the captain and his crew. The captain, Jonas, played by Gerald Rowan, beset by a nagging wife, Abby, played by Eleanor Stuart, kills her in a moment of anger and then sets sail several hours before he is scheduled to do so. Events work rapidly to their climax and the voice of the ship and the captain's wife are heard above the howling of the wind. They discover that they are 300 miles farther south of their course than they should be and are in an iceberg zone. Their rudder will not steer them and it seems as if they are drawn by some unknown force. The voice of Abby is heard calling to Jonas as the ship meets its doom by crashing into an iceberg. The continuous sound of the creaking ship and the shrieking wind, as the ship is being driven on her course give the correct impression of atmosphere . . . and sound plays an important part in the broadcast.

We obtained a few direct quotes from the script, to show how well written the script was, and how some of the outstanding effects were achieved.

At the launching of the ship Captain Jonas says:

"I name thee clipper ship Hampshire Maid and may you have the soul of a good woman for there be many likely sailor men as will love a fast boat."

The author has captured in the above lines the salty language of the sailor, minus some of the profanity, and this is kept throughout the show.

The scene in which Captain Jonas kills his wife, Abby, is particularly well done.

Abby: Nag you.—All I want is for you to stay with me while ye're home . . . and set and talk . . . (pause) . . . Jonas . . . what are ye doing? . . . Jonas! . . . Oh no . . . no . . . no . . . Don't Jonas . . . Jonas . . . (Chokes).

Sound: Thud of body.

The musical effects were extremely well chosen. We understand that Caplan spent a whole day just spotting the recordings for the show. Incidentally, all the music used was from Debussy's "La Mer," which is appropriate enough. Praise is due to the sound technicians of the show. They had a particularly tough job and since there were only two of them, where three were required, it is even more to their credit. The cast all played brilliantly. Of particular note were the performances of Eleanor Stuart as Abby, Gerald Rowan as Captain Jonas and George Alexander as Matt.

CBC Scores Unusual Scoop . . .

At exactly 10.29 Sunday evening before delivering the network cue at the conclusion of Caplan's "Home Port," Don Wilson, announcer for the show, received a news dispatch which he immediately put on the air . . . it concerned the capture by a U.S. man o' war of the Axis ship masquerading as a U.S. merchantman. He got it in during the 40 seconds allotted him before the cue. After the station identification, the NBC announcer came on before the Album of Familiar Music with the same item from the NBC newsroom in New York. And meanwhile at 10.30 on CFCF, Larry Thor was delivering the same announcement in his newscast. So the CBC scored a scoop on the other networks by a matter of 20 seconds. Such is radio.

Studio Jottings

CFCF had two important guest stars last week. The first was Dick Todd, former Montreal singer, who has made quite a name for himself over the American networks. . . . Dick appeared on Allen McIver's "Music for Madame," one of CFCF's better sustaining shows, and sang "Concerto for Two," a song which he is featuring throughout the country. . . . The second guest was Gene Krupa, who was interviewed by Ivor Francis, talented young CFCF announcer. . . . Francis described Krupa as the Fred Astaire of the drums and asked a few pertinent questions, and played a few of Krupa's records, including that killer-diller known as "Drumboogie". . . . Rose Bampton, noted Metropolitan singer, was in Montreal for the French War Savings show from Plateau Hall. . . . Gerry Arthur, who just returned from overseas service with the CBC, flew out to Hollywood last week to participate in another special French show, which included an all-star cast of French actors. . . .

Two Mexican artists are in Montreal to present a series of broadcasts. They will broadcast characteristic Mexican programs. . . . Thomas Moranto, lyric tenor, who has had great success in Central America on the concert stage, in radio, and in motion pictures, is one of the artists. His accompanist, Alfredo de Borbon, is a composer, who is known in his own land as the Jerome Kern of Mexico. . . .

Thomas Archer will begin a series of weekly book reviews over CBM, to be heard every Tuesday night at 7.30 p.m. . . . We have some inside dope on the series and know that the books to be reviewed on November 25 include John Gunther's "Inside Latin America." . . . The two best German dialectitians on the Canadian airwaves are Al Miller and Denis Murphy. . . . It's a scream to watch their faces when they emit the guttural sounds. . . . Overheard on Manning Depot, from Toronto, CBC network, featuring Woodhouse and Hawkins . . . "Try Swisho . . . Swisho does not float, confidentially it sinks." . . . And after that, we close with a few more announcer's boners, seems they never end. . . .

1st Ann.: Don't let moths damage your clothes, let our fumigators do the job.

2nd Ann.: Mr. Dodds had an abdominal attack in the downtown district.

Donating Blood

The Clotting of Blood

Why does blood clot? This may seem a superfluous question to ask. Blood clots, and that's all there is to it—it wouldn't be blood if it didn't. And actually it is an unanswerable question, for no one can say why blood clots. All we know are some of the occurrences which happen before and during, and the fundamental reason which starts the ball rolling—or the blood clotting—is still a mystery.

It is a fortunate thing for us that there is such a thing as the coagulation of blood. If there weren't we might already be dead from some small cut which just kept on bleeding. As a matter of fact, there is an hereditary disease in which such a small wound has sometimes been fatal. People who have it are called popularly "bleeders." And these people have a substance missing from their blood.

The process of clotting is very much like a chemical reaction occurring in two steps. A plus B plus C forms a substance D. D plus E forms blood clot. The important thing is that all these factors have to be present for the final product to be formed, and normally these factors are not all present in the blood stream. However, when the tissues are injured, or when blood comes into contact with some foreign substance, factor A is released. Factors B, C and E are already present in the blood, and the ball simply starts rolling: the blood clots.

Looked at with a microscope, blood is a fluid with a great many corpuscles of several kinds floating around. A blood clot is found to be composed of a mesh of very delicate fibrils, entrapped in which are all the corpuscles. A dried blood clot or scab on a wound is nature's germ-proof way of protecting injuries.

When collecting blood from donors it is important to prevent it from clotting. For a long time this was a great hindrance to a wider use of transfusion. Substances were known which could be added to blood to prevent coagulation, but they were also poisonous and made the blood unfit to use. Finally it was discovered that one of these substances, when used in harmlessly small quantities, would still prevent blood from clotting. This discovery was made during the last war, and helped to bring about a greater and greater use of blood to revive the wounded.

The "anticoagulant" used was a substance called sodium citrate. It is used today very extensively to prevent blood from clotting. As a matter of fact, when McGill blood donors watch their dark red blood flowing from their arm into a bottle, it will be sodium citrate that is used to keep their valuable 400 ccs. in a liquid form.

Spotlight on Sports

Irrespective of the official date which marks the beginning of winter, last Monday was definitely the end of the fall season as far as Montreal sportsmen were concerned. The last-second single by the Rough Riders last Saturday gave them the Big Four championship and definitely ended any interest that Montreal might have had in big league football this fall. The high school football ended in a blaze of glory as the Ottawa all-star aggregate trimmed our local boys handily to the tune of 12-6 and the day before local football at McGill ended with the Army aggregate winning their all important game against the threatening Navy squad.

Thus, whether we like it or not, the winter sports season is here to stay, and there are few around McGill who will mind. As in former years, hockey and skiing will take the spot light during the coming months and great plans are being put forward in both departments.

After the luke warm reception that Intercompany hockey received last year the powers that be have decided to try out the system that has held sway in football for the last two years. Accordingly to the present plans the best players have been divided between six teams who will battle it out for the McGill championship and the players from the various teams will receive points for their companies according to the games they play.

The main fault with the hockey set-up this season (and none of us would be happy unless there was some fault with everything) seems to be the hours which McGill have at the Forum. By playing the games at noon time, not only are any would-be spectators discouraged from journeying up to see the games, but it causes serious inconvenience to the players, especially to the hard working Engineers, who can not find time to travel three or four miles at noon time in order to play a game.

The McGill Outing Club, which includes within its ranks all would-be skiers at McGill, is also making extensive plans for a full season this year in the Laurentians. In former years big names of well known skiers with past Intercollegiate fame have scared the casually interested skiers away from entering any of the activities put on by this worthy club. This year, however, great efforts are being made to interest the average skier, and there are many at McGill, to join in the activities of the Outing Club.

Perhaps at no other major college in eastern North America have the students such fine chances to ski as they have at McGill and despite this fact McGill are far behind in the way of out-door winter activities. There is no reason why McGill students should not turn out en masse for week-end get togethers in the Laurentians.

As yet little has been heard from the McGill Outing Club but the men behind the scenes have been busy organizing a new and better club which they hope will appeal especially to the average skier at McGill. Whereas in past years the tours conducted by the club have seen only the big skiers turn out, this year it is hoped to hold tours for the beginners as well.

Apart from the military possibilities in skiing, such an out-door sport is a great body builder and one in which a beginner can quickly become proficient. There are few students at McGill who have not at some time or other done some stunts on the hickory blades and this is the chance for all these beginners to take advantage of the tours to be sponsored by Outing Club and get in some worth while time in the open air.

Although skiing will again be the big thing in the Outing Club this year plans are also being made for other out-door activities to range all the way from trail blazing in the fall to ice-boating during the winter.

There seems to be a general habit of late to make excuses for all sport columns by explaining that they were written to make the sports editor happy. Well, that leaves yours truly without an excuse except for the real reason—it fills up space. So long folks.

Intercompany Badminton Players Start Schedule

Macmen Score Upset Over Engineers in Surprise Victory

With a fair number of competitors on the courts, the Intercompany Badminton League got off to an encouraging start yesterday afternoon. Twenty-seven shuttlemen representing eight teams took part in the opening games of the season, and competition on the whole was fairly keen. C Company took an early lead by gaining eight points, but is closely followed by MacDonald and G Coy, both of whom scored seven points.

AGGIES WIN

The main surprise of the afternoon occurred in the upset scored by Macdonald College over the strong E Coy. team, who appeared to the experts as the pre-season favorites. In three of the four matches E Coy. was swept to defeat, their lone win coming when G. Bocker beat C. Morgan. The veteran combination of Richardson and Lindsay lost a hard-fought set to Halpern and Cliff of Macdonald in the other feature game, the final score not giving a true indication of the play. The score: Macdonald 7, E Coy. 5.

By the same number of points, G Coy defeated F Coy, winning both singles matches and sharing the doubles. In the closest-fought series of the afternoon, Park and B. Gibbon of G Coy beat S. Rabin and C. Fung-a-Ling 15-10, 17-15. The score: G Coy 7, F Coy 5.

C Company had an easy time of it in gaining eight points from D Coy. Only one lone representative from D Coy, R. Affleck, turned out, and he lost to R. Fisher 15-11, 15-7. All other games were won by default. Score: C Coy 8, D Coy 1.

In the final competition, G. Karn of A Coy sailed through L. Applebaum 15-3, 15-3, in the only game played of A Coy vs. Independents. The rest were defaulted. Score: A Coy 6, Ind. 1.

The next League matches will take place next Wednesday, November 26, when two teams from the R.C.A.F. will make their first appearance.

COMPLETE RESULTS YESTERDAY

Macdonald vs. E Coy: G. Barker (E) beat C. Morgan (Mac), 15-10, 15-10; R. Hayter (Mac) beat G. Jackson (E), 15-8, 15-4; Halpern and Cliff (Mac) beat Richardson and Lindsay (E), 15-8, 15-5; Morgan and Jamieson (Mac) beat Bocker and Jackson (E), 15-7, 15-7.

F Coy. vs. G Coy.: Sargeant (G) beat A. Goldburg (F) 15-10, 17-15; A. Gibbon (G) beat S. Rabin (F) 15-3, 15-6; Park and B. Gibbon (G) beat S. Rabin and C. Fung-a-Ling (F) 15-10, 17-15; Goldburg and White (F) beat Russell and K. Walter (G).

A Coy. vs. Ind.: G. Karn (A) beat L. Applebaum (Ind.) 15-3, 15.3; E.

Gymnasts Practice for Inter-Company Meets

Last year the McGill Gymnastic troupe under the fine coaching of Em Orlick made an auspicious showing at the Gymkhana put on by the University and in the Wicksteed Meet. Though a number of the gymnasts were comparative newcomers to the sport they made a good showing for themselves. As a result of this a number of invitations have come in from several local organizations for the team to take part in some Inter-club fixtures.

Practices in this department have been taking place every Tuesday and Friday at 5.15 p.m. in the east end of the gymnasium. Included in the training are matwork, and work on the parallel bars, rings, horses and boxes. A large number of men who would like to take part in these activities suffer from a complex that their capabilities would be overshadowed by the acts of the more experienced gymnasts. For their benefit it is well to point out that most competitive events are won, not by the very spectacular features, but by the simpler acts that are well done. So long as a person is healthy and has a liking for the sport there is little reason why he should not take part in it.

Inasmuch as there will probably be Inter-Company competition in Gymnastics in the near future, there is a need for men students to register for workouts. Every man entered in any event swells the company point score and helps their standing in the league. Commencing this Friday their will be special emphasis placed on the training, and gradual selection of an Exhibition Gymnastic Troupe for outside competition, so it would be advisable for those who have been wanting to sign up, and have been postponing it, to do so as soon as possible.

Among those who have been practising regularly are the following: Williams, Ross, Croteau, Hope, Foster, Doyle, Kovacs, Jackson, Morgan, Charton, Clegg, Craigwell, Fung-a-ling, Warburton, Grimaldi, Hellstrom, Hershman, Johnston, Ramsey, Russell, Johnson, Meek, Woodhead, Simpson, Leslie, Gagne, Jones and Braye. Bill Weber, captain of the Gymnastic Club, has requested that they be present at Friday's workout.

Aggie Hoopsters Meet Redmen At Macdonald

Season's Opener To Be Played Saturday Afternoon

By R.P.

This Saturday afternoon in the MacDonald Gym, MacDonald College meet Ind. 2 in the first scheduled basketball game of the McGill season. This game is important in that it will reveal the potential strength of the MacDonald team, and give some indication of the class of ball to be played in the league this year.

The Independent 2 team took the floor in their first workout yesterday afternoon, and showed fairly good form considering the fact that it was their initial practice together as a team. Plenty of team spirit and a fast-breaking type of game appear to feature this aggregation, which is made up entirely of Chemistry Grads. The captain is Ken West, and the rest of the boys are Jack Davis, Art Neish, Don Robinson, Abe Luckerman, and Al Stuart.

The Aggies should furnish the Intercompany league with strong competition this year as they are entering an all-star MacDonald team composed mainly of Seniors and Grads. With Ross Chapman as playing-coach, the team includes Sevigny, Jenkins, Archibald, Moster, Kachanoff, and Cameron.

The Intercompany league will be considerably strengthened this year by the announcement that six teams from the R.C.A.F. Radio Locator School will enter. With talent drawn from all Canada, and as they have been holding workout daily in their abbreviated gym in United College, these teams are likely to surprise.

The league thus shapes up with six Air Force, five Independent, one Macdonald, twenty-two Company, and two C.O. T.C. teams. In connection with the Independents, Coach Van Wagner wishes to draw attention to the fact that so far only Independent Graduates, Meds, and Dental students have entered, and states that a team posed of all others not taking Military Training is being formed. Independents in all other faculties should hand in their names to him immediately.

INTER-COMPANY SWIMMING MEET

The Inter-Company Swimming Meet is scheduled for December 11th. at 5.30 p.m. at the K. of C. Pool. A list has been posted on the Locker Room Notice Board and all those who intend to take part are asked to sign their names against the events in which they plan to participate.

INTER-COMPANY ASSAULT

Boxers, Wrestlers and Fencers have less than five weeks to get into shape for the coming Novice Inter-Company Assault at Arms. This is your only chance, as a novice, to win points for your Company plus an athletic award for yourself in any of these specific sports.

ENGLISH RUGBY

There will be an English Rugby game this coming Saturday, November 22nd. As this will be probably the last game of the season and we are at present at the top of the league, all are requested to turn out. The following should 'phone J. Tyhurst, BE. 2885, or P. Covo, PL. 2073, if unable to play.

J. Averill, S. Knox, E. Tucker, H. Graves, D. Brewerton, A. Stuart, A. Calderom, C. Fraser, T. Wilson, D. Boon, K. Cheetham.

Red Icemen Hold Practice

Artillery and Tars Show Good Form In Tough Workout

Yesterday noon the McGill Navy and Artillery hockey squads held a heavy practice session in which both teams showed true championship calibre and gave the other Red hockeyists fair warning that they would be in the thick of the fight for the league lead. Particularly outstanding was Bruce Crutchfield of the Middies who having rounded out into form gave a display reminiscent of his brother, one of Bobby Bell's former stars.

PRACTICE TODAY

Today at 12.30 p.m. the Artillery and Marine pucksters are scheduled to hold a workout and as the league is scheduled to get underway early next week both squads are expected to go all out in an effort to get themselves in shape for its inauguration. Word was received last night that the injury suffered by Bud Farmer in a Senior group game last Sunday afternoon was not serious and he is expected to be back on skates in about five weeks.

The schedule for practices for the next week follow. They are held at 12.30 p.m. at the Forum.

Nov. 20—Airforce and Marines.
Nov. 24—Infantry and Navy.

SWIMMING:

The Swimming Club would like all coeds, who want to swim or learn to swim, to come every Thursday at 7 p.m. to the Y.W.C.A. pool. If there are girls who have not been to the pool yet, they are welcome to come tomorrow night. In time, there will be a Swimming Tournament, and each section should have a team take part in it.

M.W.S.A.A. Hold Meeting

Corps Cadets To Receive Pins and Crests

Another meeting of the Women's Athletic Council was held last night in the M.W.S.A.A. room, in R.V.C., where the different sport managers gave their reports, and discussed plans for the future.

TO BUY PINS

The meeting opened with the secretary, Muriel Spencer reading the minutes, and the president, Pat Neilson, then began the business discussions. It was passed that the M.W.S.A.A. buy the pins, the crests and maybe the ties for the Corps Cadets, so that these would automatically become the property of the Council, although the girls could buy back the crests and the ties if they wanted to at the end of the year.

It was also moved and passed that the Golf Club be dropped from the coed activities, as there has not been enough interest shown in this sport in the last couple of years. The badminton manager told the meeting that the Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gym would be available every Thursday night for mixed doubles, so that the tournaments could be played in the Armoury instead of in the R.V.C. gym.

The council also learned that the Modern Dance Club would put on an exhibition sometime after Christmas, and that they would give the proceeds to the McGill War Fund.

TO HAVE SKI HOUSE

Irene Smith, the ski manager, told the meeting that the new ski house is practically ready for occupation, all that is needed is more snow. This year the house is right in Ste. Adele—not far from the Red Room.

After discussing different ways of aiding the war effort, and asking the girls to sign up to help the Medical Experiment Research workers at McGill, the meeting was adjourned.

Badminton Players to Dance Saturday Night

Something new in the way of entertainment will get under way this Saturday evening, Nov. 22. This will take the form of a mixed round-robin in badminton to be followed by dancing and refreshments at the Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gymnasium.

The badminton games are scheduled to get under way at 7.30 p.m. on the Gym floor, while the dancing will start two hours later downstairs in the B.W.&F. room. In preparation for this the floor will be suitably waxed and a Nickelodian will be provided with music both fast and slow. Redwing members of the R.V.C. will be on hand to act as hostesses.

The committee, consisting of Barbara Mercer, Hazen McKay, Kenneth Walter, Gorden Karn and Earle Corey, has expressed the opinion that while at least 30, and up to 54 couples, will be necessary to make the evening a success, the number of people who have shown interest has not been very large. Inasmuch as the girls should all be in fine fettle after their midday exercises and the men will be playing with their usual vigour there ought not to be any part of the evening without some interesting activity.

LIFE-SAVING CLASS

The first instruction period for the Life-Saving Class is scheduled to commence today at the K. of C. Pool at 5.30 p.m. All those who have signed up for this or who intend to take it are asked to report to Gerald Benjamin at the pool at the above-mentioned time.

PING PONG:

Many coeds have signed up for the ping pong tournament, and it looks as if there might be some keen competition among them. There is still room for more competitors, and those who have not put their names down, do so immediately.

Letter Forum

(Every letter to the editor must bear the signature of the sender as evidence of good faith, though anonymity will be respected if desired. Letters should be typewritten if possible.)

Editor, McGill Daily,

Dear Sir,—With reference to a letter which appeared on the 3rd inst. in the Daily, concerning an elderly gentleman, injured at a ball-game recently by some McGill players, might I offer a suggestion.

Insofar as the accident was the result of carelessness, the whole thing savours of the hit-and-run motorist, certainly not a good thing for the sporting reputation of McGill.

Mr. Ramsay is undoubtedly deserving of some consideration on the part of the student body. I would therefore suggest that the Students' Council come to the assistance of Mr. Ramsay by making an appropriation from the caution money of everyone, and thereby redeem our good name.

Sincerely,
"Fairminded."

Red Cross Orders

The next parade will be held at the High School on Friday at 1615 hours. Uniforms will not be worn until next Wednesday. Cadets should baste the hems of the skirts temporarily until the length has been checked at the next parade.

JOYCE TYRRELL,
Commandant.

Women's Union Minutes of Executive Meeting

On October 14th, an executive meeting of the Women's Union was held in the Women's Union room in R.V.C. Those present were Sylvia Grove (Pres.), Mary Eddy (Vice-Pres.), Margery Gaunt (Treasurer), and Dorothy Murray (Secretary). The secretary read the minutes of the last meeting. It was moved and seconded that the minutes of each meeting should be printed in the "Daily" after being read and approved. Carried.

The matter of a telephone in the Arts Building was discussed, and Miss Grove stated that a pay telephone in a booth would be installed in the building but that there would be no telephone in the Women's Common room.

Plans for coming elections were discussed, and Miss Eddy was put in charge of these elections.

The date for the Annual meeting of the Women's Union was set for 2.30 P.M. on Fri., Oct. 24th and the date for the Round Table Conference set for Thurs., Nov. 6th.

Miss Grove read the list of magazines which are taken every year by the Women's Union and are to be found in the Common Room in R.V.C. It was decided to substitute a newspaper for one of these magazines.

The secretary read a letter which she had received from Dr. Roscoe, in which she gave her approval to the formation of a Students' War Service Committee. Suggested duties for this committee are: Salvage Campaign, Red Cross Work, and Registration for voluntary war service.

The President stated the plans that had been made for the coming Student Rally to be held Oct. 22 in the Molson Stadium.

The question of purchasing a typewriter for the Women's Union room was discussed, and it was decided to ask the M.W.S.A.A. to go halves on this purchase.

The treasurer had fixed 12.30 to 1.30 every Tuesday as the hour at which she will be in the Women's Union room for any enquiries.

There being no further business, the meeting adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,
(signed) Dorothy M. Murray,
Sec.
Sylvia Grove,
Pres.

The purpose of this film is to provide those who have not yet registered a chance to appreciate the painless and harmless process involved, so that they may have no cause to hesitate in volunteering their blood, and also to give those who have already registered a fuller understanding of the operation to which they will be subjected.

Visitors who will see the film include Mr. Surrie, of the Montreal Standard, who is preparing a special feature on Blood Donation for his paper, and W. A. Lawrence, of the Publicity Council of the Red Cross of the Province of Quebec.

the present session, students will not be admitted to the School of Commerce unless they have completed one year in the Faculty of Arts and Science, or passed their Senior Matriculation. This requirement will permit the selection of older and abler students to study an advanced curriculum.

As a result of this, it was recognized that it would be necessary to enlarge the teaching staff, to appoint outstanding scholars with special qualifications and to increase the facilities for research. The Bronfman donation will provide the necessary equipment to carry out these plans.
